1. Introduction

This Complaints & Dispute Resolution Policy explains how Nexpay Pty Ltd (NexPay, we, our, us) handles complaints, in accordance with the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) and ASIC Regulatory Guide 271. We are committed to providing our financial services efficiently, honestly and fairly. If something has gone wrong, we want to know as soon as possible so we can put it right and improve our services. Customers of our UK and Canadian group entities should refer to the complaints information provided by those entities for their local escalation pathways.

2. How to make a complaint

Please contact us by email (preferred) at complaints@nexpay.com.au, and include your full name, contact details, your NexPay reference number (if available), a description of your complaint, and any supporting documents. We will acknowledge your complaint promptly upon receipt.

3. Internal dispute resolution (IDR)

We take all complaints seriously. Our IDR process includes reviewing your complaint thoroughly, investigating the relevant transactions or issues, contacting internal teams or partners where required, keeping you informed of progress, and issuing a written response setting out our findings.

Timeframes. We aim to resolve complaints and provide a written IDR response within 30 calendar days, in line with ASIC RG 271. Some complaints may take longer because of external banking investigations or complexity; if so, we will keep you informed and explain the reason for any delay and your right to escalate to AFCA.

4. External dispute resolution — AFCA

If you are not satisfied with our response, or we do not respond within the required timeframe, you may escalate your complaint to the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (AFCA), a free and independent external dispute resolution scheme available to individuals and small businesses:

Website / email	www.afca.org.au / info@afca.org.au
